

(1) A client app starts up local Sigma Engine, and (2) takes a picture. (3) Accesses a remote Sigma Engine (via the protocol of choice) and retrieves the remote IPictureServer service. Then following the protocol of that binder service, sends the picture by writing to a file descriptor. It is received in chunks at the remote device (4) and then decoded (5).

